Project Description

This project funded by the Ohio Bureau of Workers Compensation is enrolling manufacturing employees from an industrial plant setting in Northern Cincinnati. Participants will complete iOS-based learning modules to learn about opioid use, abuse, and treatment including signs of dependence, symptoms of overdose, associated risk factors, and treatment options. Participants will complete follow-up surveys 90 days later. The student will assist with participant recruitment, enrollment, and providing iPads to participants. The student will need transportation; transportation expenses will be reimbursed. In addition, the student will assist with manuscript and presentation development.
